Are YOU Good Medicine For Hospitalized Friend?

By NORMAND POIRIER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Millions of dollars are spent to develop miracle drugs and medicines, surgery is becoming a fine art, new hospital equipment is designed daily to give the patient the best chance in the world.

Then YOU come along and give the patient a relapse by sitting on his bed, carting in foods he can't stomach, breaking rules about visiting hours, and arguing how your operation was more dangerous than his.

The 'YOU' refers to the person who doesn't abide by the common etiquet involved in paying a sick-call.

One chapter in the life of the patient that's nearly as important as those that take place during diagnosis, the operation, the post-operative period, is the form of mental therapy that takes place while the patient is resting—waiting to go home.

Mrs. John Miller, superintendent of nurses at Memorial hospital, Miss Elizabeth Sweeney, her counterpart at Pottstown hospital, gave some hints yesterday concerning the DO's and DON'Ts of visiting patients.

"Most people know how to act in hospital," Mrs. Miller said, "but it's amazing how thoughtless some people can be."

Both nurse superintendents pointed out that one of the rules most consistently violated is the one about visiting hours.

"Many people try to get in to see a patient at 2 o'clock instead of at 2:30 when hours open," Miss Sweeney said.

MRS. MILLER SAID that in some cases visitors have actually climbed fire escapes to "get in early."

"They don't seem to realize that the patients are on a schedule. We plan it so that we can freshen them up for visitors."

And often, the people who try to sneak in early are the ones who remain after the visiting session has closed, the nurses said.

Visitors should make plans—with other relatives and friends—so that there are never more than two visitors in the room at one time. It's very taxing for the patient.

"And don't stay long," Mrs. Miller advised. "If four people each spend 15 minutes with the patient, that's one hour that the patient has been talking and otherwise using up energy that she can't afford."

And one of the other cardinal points about good etiquet concerns the other person—or persons—in the room.

"Remember that the person in the other bed may have a terrible headache. Maybe the sound of voices alone is irritating. Don't just think about the person you came to see."

BOTH HOSPITALS have a rule against allowing children under 12 to visit patients.

"There's too good a chance that they may bring a sickness in with them or take one out with them."

Besides, children are generally more tiring than adults, though this is not a hard and fast rule.

Both nurses also made it clear that the patient's bed is not the visitor's resting place. Sit beside the bed, stand up, lean against a wall. But don't sprawl on the bed.

The patient may be too polite to tell you. But it isn't comfortable. And here's another DON'T. Leave foods at home. Most of the foods you bring will probably be against the diet. Besides, there isn't enough room in hospitals to store patients' food.

Don't go bursting into your patient's room without first checking with the information desk. Often your patient may have changed rooms during the day. You go running into a stranger's room.

If you do it, and your sister does it, and four other friends and relatives, the strange patient is going to become irritated.

If you find your patient-friend in a talkative mood, don't start telling him about YOUR operation.

The only important operation to him at the moment is the one he just went through. Let him have his moment. Even if you were slit from throat to belly, let the current patient have the stage.

DON'T TELL HIM how thin he looks, or how fast YOU recovered. He'll be alone all night thinking about your words.

And don't bring bad news of any kind—especially your own bad news. The patient has enough trouble of his own.

On the other hand, don't be a sun-shine bore—beaming and smiling with all those unfunny jokes about "who ye tryin' ta kid in that bed," and "get up you lazy so-and-so," and "you'll be outta here tomorrow."

The patient probably knows just about how sick he is, how fast he'll be out of bed, and especially—how sick he really feels.

There are nice things you can do and nice ways to act.

Send a card or two. Send flowers or dish plants and potted plants, the latter preferably since they can be saved and transplanted after the hospital ordeal.

Bring reading material—magazines, books, newspapers.

"That's just about the best," Mrs. Miller said.

Visit the patient but make your visits brief. Better six 10-minute visits than one hour-long stay that'll leave you and the patient groping for words.

But probably most important—check with the information desk. They'll tell you there how many people are in your patient's room, whether he's in a new room, whether there's something you should or shouldn't bring him.

Then, when you get to the room, be as courteous to the other patients in the room as you are to your own. They may be even sicker, you know.

Two other phone calls also were about different birds. One caller convinced Mrs. Nester it was Chippie and she took his empty cage to South Evans street, where a parakeet was reported to be sitting in a tree.

MRS. NESTER couldn't see if it was Chippie because the bird was high up in the tree. She waited an hour until it was at close range and she saw it wasn't her pet.

Saturday evening, William Scherfel Jr., 1034 Schuykill road, Kenilworth, went out into his back yard to feed his chickens with his son Bill, 9 years old. They saw blue and grey Chippie sitting on a tree near their home.

Heat Wave In 10th Day

Pottstown's steaming weather sent thousands of borough and area residents to area parks in search of relief yesterday and Saturday.

After ten days of the heat wave that refused to relax its fiery grip, most borough residents felt they'd had enough.

All but the most thin-blooded were beginning to feel like the hero of "Ten Nights in a Turkish Bath."

A light shower at 3:30 p. m. yesterday brought some relief, but the humidity continued through the evening.

Pottstown escaped a thunderstorm that struck in the Philadelphia area late in the afternoon, although thunder was heard in the area.

Crowds that descended on area cooling-off spots reached almost record proportions, it was reported.

A horde of 35,000 invaded French Creek State park yesterday, Curtis A. English, superintendent, reported.

"It was as many as we had on the holiday weekend the past Sunday," he revealed. "The park was packed, and we had to turn about 20,000 more persons away for lack of parking space."

The rain in the afternoon touched off a homeward stampede, English said, but before the benches at Hopewell lake and Sixpenny were loaded with bathers.

Other refugees from Pottstown's steam-kettle temperatures streamed into Upper Perkiomen Valley park at Green Lane.

Park Superintendent Otto Quinke said yesterday's heat brought 21,180 visitors into his 563-acre sanctuary.

"I can say that 3966 were picnickers and 16,924 came to swim," he revealed. "And they came in 4236 cars."

SATURDAY'S CROWD totaled 12,305, Quinke recalled, of which 4292 were picnickers, 7383 bathers, and they came in 2461 cars.

High Street Safari Kills Copperhead

A Pottstown councilman, two policemen, and a safari of private citizens captured and killed a "copperhead" snake in the jungles of High street late last night.

"He's a copperhead and I was poking at him with a stick," shuddered Councilman Guy F. Sperat as he studied a faded sketching of a real copperhead in a dictionary at midnight.

Patrolmen Howard Smoyer and Lloyd Meyers left their pistols in their holsters, used a club to kill the snake.

The snake measured 18 inches.

TOP—Mrs. Ruth Gaugler, Sanatoga, breaks a rule by sitting on a patient's bed. And the clock shows that she has overstayed visiting hours by 15 minutes. The patient is Mrs. Fern Koppel, 326 Beech street.

CENTER—Even though your patient feels healthy, maybe the other patient in the room has a splitting headache. Be considerate of all hospital patients—not only the one you're visiting. Here Mrs. Harold Schwartz, 111 E. Third street, visits her husband, Ralph Rhoads, York street hotel, in foreground.

LOWER LEFT—The ideal visitor, Matthew Sovizal, Pottstown RD 3, checks in at the information desk before going up to see a patient. This is one of the most important rules to follow. Makes it better for patient, visitor and hospital workers.

LOWER RIGHT—Mrs. Frank Goode, Nantmeal, brings flowers to the Rev. Leroy Bernard of Tannersville. Send cards, bring flowers, magazines, books and plants. Don't bring candy or fruit or food. They may not be on the patient's diet. Besides, there's little room for storing them.

Prodigal Parakeet Back in Cage After Freedom Flight

Chippie, a grey and blue parakeet owned by Mrs. Stern Nester, Layfield road, discovered Saturday evening that "there's no place like home."

Life in a cage can get pretty boring, so the curious bird left his cozy perch last week to get a look at the world around him.

After several days of freedom, Chippie found out that he couldn't find his way home and to add to his misery, he was very hungry.

Even though Chippie had quite a problem, his owner had even more trouble.

Mrs. Nester kept the empty cage out-of-doors, hoping that Chippie would tire of his wandering life and would return home. After two days of waiting, she placed an ad in the Mercury lost and found column.

The first phone call to Mrs. Nester told of a parakeet found by a family on Adams street. Its description fit Chippie, until Mrs. Nester discovered it was still a baby. Her pet will be one year old on Tuesday, the same day as her birthday. The family that called was very helpful and offered the baby bird to take the place of roving Chippie.

Two other phone calls also were about different birds. One caller convinced Mrs. Nester it was Chippie and she took his empty cage to South Evans street, where a parakeet was reported to be sitting in a tree.

MRS. NESTER couldn't see if it was Chippie because the bird was high up in the tree. She waited an hour until it was at close range and she saw it wasn't her pet.

To Push for Control in Fall

Council Seats Demos' Goal

Pottstown Democrats will concentrate their Fall campaign on winning control of borough council.

But Republicans, eager to continue the control they have enjoyed for the past six years, promise stern opposition.

While the average Pottsonian is trying to defeat the Summer heat, politicians are quietly preparing to defeat each other in the Fall campaign which will be climaxed with the election of 10 councilmen and two school directors on Nov. 8.

Republicans have a statistical advantage. They control council with 13 of 20 seats. They will have to win four of 10 contested seats this Fall to continue control.

To maintain its present, 13 to 7 majority, the GOP needs to win six of 10 contests.

Of the 10 councilmen not seeking re-election, six are Republicans and four are Democrats. Democrats need seven victories in the Fall to break even and eight to win council.

Despite their statistical disadvantage, Democrats are hopeful of breaking through. They base their optimism on the natural inclination of the voter to want a change, and on the possibility that the GOP, with six consecutive years of control behind it, might not work too hard.

ONE PROMINENT Republican leader explained, "We've got to work to maintain control. And certainly hope we all get out and work, because I want to see the party continue control of council for at least another two years."

"The government—on a pay-as-you-go basis, has worked smoothly the past few years—and I hope we can continue our program. But it'll be a good tough campaign."

While Democratic leaders have not publicly asserted that they will engage in an all-out battle to win council, the statistics point to a Democratic effort in this direction.

Council is the only place where an appreciable Democratic gain is possible.

Republicans control all seven seats of school board and only two candidates, President H. Bert Shaw and Treasurer William H. Yohn, are up for re-election.

The only other local contest is for auditor.

While Republicans are girding for a stiff fight and most Democrats are promising stern opposition, one Democratic leader has said privately that the GOP will have little trouble maintaining council control.

His opinion is not shared by his party colleagues.

Republican council candidates are: Paul Marshall, Tenth ward; Richard C. Strange, Ninth ward; Wilbert F. O'Dell Jr., Eighth ward; Albert E. Jacob, Seventh ward; Carl M. Hofheinz, Sixth ward; H.

Bruce Bechtel, Fifth ward; Theodore Klebach, Fourth ward; Joseph J. Zueno, Third ward; Merrill M. Umstead, Second ward; Paul G. Yocum, West ward.

MARSHALL AND O'DELL are the only incumbents.

Democratic candidates for council are: George A. Longacre, Tenth ward; John J. Cione, Ninth ward; Newt Workman, Eighth ward; John D. Gauger, Seventh ward; Edward D. Jameson, Sixth ward; Thomas S. Bodola, Fourth ward; Alfred A. Panfile, Fifth ward; Charles C. Barr, Third ward; Earl J. Reidenour, Second ward, and Leonard A. Keffer, West ward.

Barr, who has been appointed to replace Michael G. Sweda, who moved from the Third ward this Spring, is the only Democratic incumbent. Reidenour is a former school director. Keffer is former president of Doehler-Jarvis Local 1056, United Auto Workers (CIO).

Other Democrats are political newcomers.

Royal Worth and Alexander Downie will oppose Shaw and Yohn in the race for school board, and Democratic incumbent, Gerald J. Prior, will oppose James F. Christman, Republican, in the contest for auditor.

Although neither party has been publicly active, both have been planning campaign strategy.

It adds up to an interesting, tight election with the spotlight on the battle to control council.

Damage to the three vehicles was light.

4 Hurt in 3-Car Mishap

Four persons were injured in a three-car crash at High and Penn streets yesterday when one driver's brake-foot got caught in the floor mat.

The accident happened at 3:10 p. m. Two cars, facing east were stopped for a red light when the third car, driven by John F. Bertucci of Norristown, crashed into the rear of the second. The second car then struck the front car.

Bertucci told police that his foot caught in the floor mat as he raised it to step on the brake.

The drivers of the other two cars were Ralph Koppelman, Mount Penn, and Carl F. Swavely, 242

Gardner Reports His Tomato Plants Were Poisoned

As if the heat wasn't enough to wilt them, Alexander Ferketich's tomato plants have been poisoned.

He lives at 315 Cherry street and has a small garden a block away on the property of Roscoe Lawrence, 239 South Charlotte street.

Everything was growing at a splendid rate and Ferketich was getting to be proud of his green thumb.

But yesterday morning—his tomato plants looked as though they'd been breathing nothing but onion-and-garlic atmosphere for 24 hours.

They were dead to the world—a redundancy since tomato plants are only of one world.

Now who would poison those plants? And why? (Both Ferketich and Lawrence are convinced it was done with poison since they found a white powdery substance on the plants.)

"About midnight last night our dog started barking and my wife opened the front door and looked out. Two boys, she said they looked about 15 years old, ran out of the garden," Lawrence said.

But neither Lawrence nor Ferketich had any idea why the boys would want to poison the tomato plants.

At any rate, Lawrence notified police about the incident. Police had little to work on, however, since fingerprints are hard to find on tomato plants.

Both company and union negotiators hope to reach an agreement by the Friday midnight strike deadline.

Union members in respective Doehler-Jarvis plants have voted to go on strike unless an agreement is reached by Friday night.

Pottstown Local 1056, United Auto Workers (CIO), will be represented by Local President William Shutt, Earl Bicer, Theodore Vapniarek and Gustav H. Schade Jr.

NEGOTIATIONS, which began in the Taft hotel, New York, were recessed this past July 1, until today.

Pottstown workers have voted almost unanimously for a strike, if an agreement is not reached.

Both company and union negotiators reported that little progress had been made in the New York meetings.

3 U. S. Turncoats Back in Free World; Plea Youth, Stupidity and Propaganda

HONG KONG, July 10 (AP)—Three former U. S. soldiers who chose and then rejected life in Communist China were back in the free world tonight—ready, they said, to face the consequences.

They were captured in Korea. When the armistice came, they and 20 other Americans decided to stay with the Communists rather than go home. Four months ago these three demanded to be repatriated.

Asked why he changed his mind, William A. Cowart, 23, of Dalton, Ga., said:

"A child decided not to go home—a man decided to go home."

COWART, with Lewis W. Griggs, 22, of Jacksonville, Tex., and Otto G. Bell, 24, of Hillsboro, Miss., came by train from Canton to Hong Kong today, ending two years in what Cowart called "a society built on fear."

Once inside this British colony, they were turned over to U. S. authorities and will sail for home tomorrow night on the liner President Cleveland, due at San Francisco July 29.

They told a news conference at their hotel tonight they expect to be prosecuted when they reach the United States but they are willing to face it in order to explain what happened to them.

All three admitted they committed acts when they were war prisoners which made them afraid at armistice time to return to the United States. None would say specifically what these acts were. Griggs referred in vague terms to an article hostile to America which he had written.

COWART SAID: "I did things (as a prisoner) that I felt were contradictory to what an American should do. The Chinese told me I would be treated very severely if I went back . . .

"I am prepared to face the consequences of the mistakes I made in the past."

Each of the three in turn pleaded youth, stupidity and the appeal of clever Communist propaganda to excuse their behavior.

Griggs, Bell and Cowart entered Hong Kong territory early this afternoon. They walked from the train across the 200-foot Shum Chun river bridge to be greeted by British immigration officials and Margaret Strathie, British Red Cross representative, who handed them messages from their families.

THE IMMIGRATION officers explained to the three that they were in technical custody as "prohibited immigrants" until their status was cleared by American authorities.

A police car brought them into the city and to the Hong Kong police station where S. M. Backe of the U. S. consulate was waiting with a list of 13 questions for each to establish identity and determine whether they had kept or forfeited U. S. citizenship during their stay with the Communists.

After half an hour, Backe said, "I just interrogated the men concerning citizenship. They appear to have retained status (as U. S. citizens) and they have stated a desire to return to the United States."

"In accordance with instructions from the State department, the consul general in Hong Kong will issue them documents permitting them to return directly to the United States."

Reds Sincere About Peace, Nehru Says

DUESSELDORF, Germany, July 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru of India, flying home from Europe, said here tonight he had found "general agreements in Soviet Russia that Germany should be reunified."

The Asian leader, however, cautioned against expectations that the Big Four summit conference at Geneva next week would solve world problems.

"I think the (world) atmosphere has definitely improved," Nehru said. "It would not be right to expect a solution (at Geneva) but rather a consideration of ways and means of bringing about agreement."

"The treated me as a friend," he said. "Their desire for peace is not only earnest and sincere, but results obviously from the understanding of the absurdity of nuclear war. No sensible person can want a nuclear war today."

"The desire to avoid war is strong, perhaps strongest in countries which have already suffered from war. As far as the people of the Soviet Union are concerned, the desire to avoid a war has become a passion."

COWART SAID: "I did things (as a prisoner) that I felt were contradictory to what an American should do. The Chinese told me I would be treated very severely if I went back . . .

Manacled Man Swims From Alcatraz To Shore To Prove It's Possible

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10 (AP)—Strong man Jack Lalanne of Oakland today swam two miles from a point off Alcatraz island prison to the San Francisco shore—with his wrists handcuffed together.

The warden of Alcatraz still insists, however, that no prisoner could make it through the cold currents.

As he scrambled dripping to shore, Lalanne said:

"I'm not tired at all—just cold. I could have gone farther."

HE DID 30 pushups to prove it. Lalanne, a physical culture proponent, used a modified side-stroke with a strong scissors leg kick. At each downward thrust of his manacled arms, his head was well submerged.

Lalanne started from a boat, since Warden Paul J. Madigan of Alcatraz federal prison had refused him permission to leave from the steep shore of the rocky island.

Madigan said the feat, performed at the end of an ebb tide, did not shake his conviction that Alcatraz is virtually escape proof for swimming prisoners.

"He must be in very fine physical condition," the warden commented. "But I'm not worried about any prisoner who's been here a year or two doing it."

Two-Hour Warning Seen In Case of Air Attack

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—Civil Defense administrator Val Peterson said today American cities now may get two hours' warning ahead of an enemy bomber attack.

The time may grow to four to six hours when the Nation's distant radar warning network is completed, he said.

ATLANTA, July 10 (AP)—An Atlanta police officer was fatally wounded, a 17-year-old boy was killed and one of two escaped convicts shot during a desperate chase through the southside Saturday night.

Motorcycle patrolman Clyde Lamar Ellsberry, 27, died in a hospital early today and Johnny Howell, son of Mrs. Christine Howell Sr., was killed when the motorcycle he was riding was struck by a stolen prison camp station wagon occupied by the convicts.

Ellsberry was run over by the machine which witnesses said was traveling at a high rate of speed. The vehicle struck the motorcycle about two miles from where the officer was hit.

Driver of the station wagon was identified as Luther J. (Butter) Masters, 33, of Atlanta. The other convict was listed as Harry L. Nelson, 27, also of Atlanta.

AFTER THE collision with the motorcycle, Masters and Nelson jumped from the station wagon and attempted to flee on foot. Masters was captured half a block away but Nelson jumped into a pickup truck parked nearby and fled again.

Nelson crashed into two other cars before abandoning the truck. Police shot him after he failed to heed an order to halt.

Masters was sentenced Nov. 20, 1944 to serve 40 to 60 years on robbery charges. Dekalb county prison warden Paul Matthews said.

Records show Nelson was sentenced March 25, 1952 to serve four to five years on robbery and auto larceny charges.

MATTHEWS SAID Masters and Nelson were discovered missing from the prison camp shortly after 3 p. m. Saturday. He said the two men and another prisoner, all trustees, were painting an office building by the camp shop building.

Masters and Nelson apparently "slipped away," Matthews said, adding "they managed to get by the prison guard."

They escaped in a prison station wagon.

About 4:30 p. m. patrolman C. F. Glosson, an off-duty Dekalb county officer, spotted the vehicle and the convicts. He was joined in the chase by Ellsberry.

Committee to Study 'Key Issue' Disarmament Resolution Likely to Pass Senate

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—The Senate today is regarded as almost certain to approve a resolution setting up a special new subcommittee on world disarmament.

The proposal has been formally endorsed by the State department as "an important contribution to the increasingly intensive efforts of the government in pursuit of international peace and security through a reliable system of world disarmament."

President Eisenhower named Harold Stassen his special assistant on world disarmament last March 19.

Senate Democratic leaders were reliably reported to have agreed, soon after, that the Democratic-controlled Congress should play an active role in pursuit of a workable world disarmament program.

THE QUESTION of East-West disarmament is shaping up as one of the key issues at the July 18 summit conference among President Eisenhower and the premiers of Britain, France and the Soviet Union.

No official of the Democratic party will accompany Eisenhower to the conference or, so far as is known, participate in the lower level talks which is hoped will follow the Big Four meeting.

As one Democratic senator put it privately: "We naturally want to get in on this and we feel we can make a contribution."

Republicans have made no visible effort thus far to block the resolution, introduced by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) last April. Some Republican senators are

Holdup Man Gets Electric Chair For Fatal Shooting of Storekeeper

BELLEFONTE, July 10 (AP)—William Maxwell Jr., 27, of Philadelphia, was brought to Rockview penitentiary today to pay with his life for the holdup slaying of a Chester grocer.

He will die in Pennsylvania's electric chair shortly after 1:30 a. m. Eastern Daylight Time Monday.

Maxwell arrived at the penitentiary at 7 a. m. and was placed in a cell on death row. He was brought by aides of the Delaware county sheriff's office.

The convicted killer spent most of the day with the Rev. William Anderson. He had no visitors.

PRISON OFFICIALS said he was in "excellent shape" and seemed "not a bit worried." The prisoner was given a haircut and bath and shaven. He did not sleep during the day.

Once before when the south Philadelphia resident was due to be executed he received a reprieve.

Last Wednesday the board denied a plea for clemency without comment. The appeal to the pardons board was the first and only legal step Maxwell took in his own behalf to escape death.

He was convicted of murder on Dec. 6, 1954 in Delaware county after being tried before Judge Henry G. Sweeney. Maxwell was found guilty of the fatal pistol shooting of Maciabel Arcomone, the storekeeper. The holdup took place Feb. 27, 1954.

DURING THE trial prosecutor Joseph E. Pappano told the jury Maxwell and four companions held up the store with only Maxwell and a Rayford Stevens going inside.

Evidence showed that after making several purchases Maxwell told the store owner "this is a stickup," backed him into a corner and shot him.

These Little Bares Bear Up Well in Heat Wave

The heat wave being what it is, these little residents of the Pittsburgh home for Babies, a Community Chest agency, get down to bare essentials as they seek relief on the grounds of the home. Demonstrators Chased Away Firemen Douse Argentina Catholics As Church-State Dispute Flares Again

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 10 (AP)—Police and hose-wielding firemen routed hundreds of shouting, stone-throwing Roman Catholics before the Metropolitan cathedral today. A few demonstrators were arrested and about 500 others chased away.

It was the first outbreak of trouble in Buenos Aires since the revolt on June 16. Some of the demonstrators hurled stones and pieces of brick at police in scuffles in the Plaza de Mayo and some of the policemen were pushed off their feet.

A few suffered slight injuries in the scuffles, as did some of the demonstrators.

Firemen sprayed the demonstrators with chemical foam and water tinted with a brown dye. Police sirens wailed and police wagons rushed to the plaza with reinforcements after the trouble broke out.

THE DEMONSTRATORS shouted: "Liberty," "Freedom and peace" and "He must go," the latter taken to refer to President Juan D. Peron.

One woman screamed at the police: "Why didn't you come out when they were burning the churches?"

The noisy demonstration came in the face of President Peron's call for "pacification" in the nation and in defiance of appeals from Catholic Church leader for peace.

Priests read from their pupils today a letter from Santiago Luis Cardinal Copello, archbishop of Buenos Aires, urging the faithful to refrain from any acts of a religious character without permission of church authorities.

WORSHIPPERS in the cathedral were urged to leave peacefully this morning, but the demonstration broke out shortly after they stepped outside.

Cardinal Copello's letter, released last Wednesday as a move to prevent just such disorder, said in part:

"This noble eagerness for unity and peace can be accomplished only with elimination among us of causes which created discontent and have divided our citizens, whose peacefulness and harmony are our main aspiration."

Demonstrators jeered at police as some of their number was taken into custody. The exact number is not known.

Pro-government newspapers rapped Roman Catholics for a noisy demonstration yesterday—Argentina's independence day—charging the marchers had staged a "political act" and broken the truce called for by Peron last Tuesday.

Adventists End 'Best Bible Conference' in Ten Years

Elder Burgess Urges More Prayer, Youth Guidance as Sessions Close

Seventh Day Adventists of the Allegheny conference broke camp at Pine Forge late yesterday after what a spokesman called "the best Bible conference here in ten years."

After the packing, the last handshakes, the well wishes—thousands of departing conference members paused in their automobiles for prayer.

While heads were bowed, the campers asked for God's protection on the highway. Many will drive 500 miles or more to their homes in seven states.

As the last meeting in the ten-day conference series came to an end, workmen rushed to pull down the big meeting tents, which will be needed elsewhere.

The big top will be shipped to the Northeastern conference for use at its camp grounds on the shores of Lake Victoria, N. Y.

ELEVEN EVANGELISTIC campaigns will be conducted in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, New Jersey, Ohio and the District of Columbia—the territory of the Allegheny conference. Preparations for the meetings are completed and workers assigned. Many will begin on Sunday.

"Adventists not only preach the Second Coming of Christ; we try to live and act as if we sincerely believe in it," commented Elder William L. Cheatham, Allegheny conference president.

Elder M. A. Burgess of Pine Forge, spoke at the early morning devotional services under the big top yesterday. The home missionary secretary said he had heard an abundance of good sermons since being on the camp grounds but it was "now time to put what we heard into action."

It is the life that counts with God. This he said has been our best camp meeting and we have had the spirit of God with us.

THE CLERIC declared that the family altar is the one thing that will keep us together with God. "Praying just once a day is not sufficient, we cannot make it with less than three prayer sessions with God," he said.

Parents must give more attention to their children—where they go and who they are going with should be your chief concern he told the early morning worshippers.

Message editor Elder L. B. Reynolds from the Southern Publishing house in Nashville, Tenn., told the audience at the 11:30 a. m. hour, "We are watched critically in religious circles and by those that know not God. We must show that we have been with the Saviour and that His life has changed ours. There is more power in living a sermon than in preaching one. Adventists have made remarkable gains, and the world looks to us."

Elder Cheatham said, "We have so much to be thankful for." He mentioned the weather, God's protecting care, the endless supply of fine water and the general health of the thousands on the grounds.

ELDER W. A. THOMPSON of the Ebenezer church, Philadelphia, spoke to the campers Saturday evening from the topic, "Traveling to the Promise Land."

A parallel was drawn with the march of the children of Israel from Egypt to Canaan. As the people of God encounter hills of difficulty and are tempted to linger and perhaps get discouraged, they hear that still, small voice saying to them in the words of Deut. 2:3, 24, "Rise ye up, take your journey," he said.

Elder Thompson concluded with the thought, "He that endureth until the end—the same shall be saved."

Rev. Sellers to Preach Anniversary Sermon

Ex-Athlete Scores Points for Lord 50 Years

Fifty years ago, the Rev. Escol S. Sellers, 338 King street, began scoring points for the Lord after setting a few records as an athlete at Temple university, Philadelphia.

"I'll preach my 50th anniversary sermon at Parkerford Baptist church on July 31 at 10:45 a. m.," the ruddy-faced veteran of the pulpit announced.

He was working in the "control room" at the Pottstown YMCA at the time. He puts in four evenings a week there, checking admissions to the "Y" gymnasium and swimming pool.

"They knew about my athletic background," the easy-talking clergyman explained. "That's why they asked me to take over the job."

The pastor's wife died three years ago, and he's living at the YMCA now. On Sundays he fills vacant pulpits in the Pottstown area and teaches Bible classes in the Sunday schools.

"It was in 1905, at the First Baptist church in Berwyn, that I was ordained to the ministry," the Rev. Sellers recalled, blue eyes bright behind his spectacles. "Twelve years later my health failed and I resigned my regular pastorate to do supply work."

But he paid off the church mortgage while serving at Berwyn, and 100 persons joined the church in the time he was there.

AFTER THAT he worked for the Baptist publication society. His work in this field included the publication of a Russian Bible that he set up with the help of a dog-eared original from the old country.

Today the Rev. Sellers looks as healthy and alert as a man half his age. He'll be 83 years old tomorrow, and is vice president of Pottstown's Golden Age club.

He weighs 162 pounds, or eight pounds less than he did as a star football and basketball player for Temple back in 1899.

In that year he also scored more points in track and field events than any other student in the university. During the same year he won a silver cup for running on a one-mile relay team in a meet at the University of Pennsylvania.

"Once when I was on the Temple football squad," the pastor recalled. "We unhitched the horses from Dr. Russell Conwell's carriage and pulled him down Broad street to the railroad station ourselves."

That was when the university's founder was leaving Philadelphia to deliver his famous 'Acres of Diamonds' talk in Europe.

Dr. Conwell was a friend of the Rev. Sellers' father, and was often a guest at the Sellers' home in Linfield.

THE REV. SELLERS is named for a great uncle, who was a mineralogist, an inventor, a railroadman and a friend of humorist Mark Twain.

"Uncle Escol was such a colorful character," the Rev. Sellers declared. "That Mark Twain put him in his novel 'The Gilded Age.'"

When the novel was about to be published, the pastor went on, Uncle Escol threatened to sue the novelist for $20,000 for using his name.

"So Mark Twain went through the book and changed 'Colonel Escol Sellers' to 'Colonel Mulberry Sellers,'" the Rev. Sellers concluded.

Now the Rev. Sellers is known as "Colonel Mulberry" to Frank Fell, Mont Clare, and other acquaintances who have read Mark Twain.

The Rev. Sellers was born in Prince Edward county, Va., and moved to Linfield with his family as a youngster. He attended both Temple university and the theological seminary there.

HE WAS LICENSED to preach at Parkerford Baptist church, of which he has been a member but not pastor. He has been a teacher of the brotherhood Bible class there, though, for the past 34 years.

He also is a frequent guest teacher of men's Bible classes at Pottstown Protestant churches of all denominations.

The Rev. Sellers was married to the former Helen Randall, Royersford, sister of the late Dr. Robert Randall, also of that borough.

A daughter, Mary, was born to the couple when the father was 60 years old. She is married to David Shinn, Burlington, N. J. The Rev. Sellers officiated at the wedding in Parkerford Baptist church.

Next to the satisfaction of performing that ceremony, the Rev. Sellers recalls most fondly an athletic feat of his college days. That was the time he made a field goal in a basketball game by tossing the ball through the hoop with his back turned.

Bible Students Plan Cavalcade To Boy's Ranch

Members of the Pottstown Federation of Men's Bible classes will form a "Boy's Ranch cavalcade" during their monthly gathering tomorrow night.

New Life boy's ranch, near Harleysville, will be their destination. They will have a ball game, refreshments and twilight devotions.

The 7 to 9 p. m. program will include a tour of the ranch, which is operated as a corrective home for delinquent boys by Walter Haman, former U. S. Secret Service man.

The caravan of automobiles will assemble at 6:15 p. m. at the Pottstown youth center on Firestone drive near East High street. From there it will follow the Federation's own highway markers to the ranch.

In case of rain the program will take place at Searles Methodist church.

Patriarch Asked To Ease Tension

NEW YORK, July 10—The World Council of Churches, representing most of world Protestantism and the Orthodox churches of Europe, has sent to Patriarch Alexi, in Moscow, the head of the Russian Orthodox Church, an appeal "to the governments and peoples" behind the iron curtain to help relieve present world tensions.

The document urges "the statesmen and the leaders of public opinion and the press to refrain from words and actions which are designed to inflame enmity and hatred," and calls upon church leaders "in those countries between which tension exists to visit one another, so that they may gain a better understanding of one another, and of the countries in which they live, and thus strengthen the bonds of fellowship and promote the reconciliation of the nations."

It also urges the churches "to bid their members recognize their political responsibilities, and also to ask Christian technicians and administrators to find a vocation in the service of U. N. agencies engaged in meeting the needs . . . of countries, thus bringing a Christian temper of love and understanding to bear upon the immensely difficult task of mutual assistance in the encounter of different cultures, (and) to unite in a common ministry of reconciliation in proclaiming Christ as the Hope of the World."

Remember Those Hats?

It has been observed that the possibility of soaking the rich to pay the cost of government went out with Prohibition and Empress Eugenie hats.

If the Federal government took every nickel of individual taxable income above $10,000 a year, the amount collected wouldn't pay its bills for one month.

If it took all taxable income above $4000, it would get only a fifth of what it is spending each year.

We just haven't got enough rich or middle income people to soak, and those we have are soaked to the hilt already. So the lower incomes must carry a great part of the burden.

Mail for Sherlock Holmes

NO longer can there be the slightest doubt about the immortality of the greatest sleuth who ever sprang from pen, pencil or typewriter. This greatest of all detectives in crime fiction, invented in 1887 by Dr. A. Conan Doyle, was Sherlock Holmes.

He was utterly incomparable and completely ineluctable, and in the company of his inseparable friend and chronicler, the rather lethargic Dr. Watson, he detected crimes disentangled mysteries and unscrewed the inscrutable until 1914.

According to his literary creator, Sherlock Holmes was born in 1854 and the British Broadcasting Corporation observed the centennial with fitting ceremonies. Doubtless no year will go by without the shades of Holmes and Watson being invoked in the press from London to San Francisco. The long, lean, sharp-faced detective and his puffy stubby companion are long-gone, but they still are better known than the slickest "private eye" among the scores that abound in today's fiction.

Not so? Well, there is the current official report from Scotland Yard and its records among its many functions the answering of letters addressed to Sherlock Holmes. "We write back," says Scotland Yard, "telling them that he doesn't work for us." We'll wager three bob and a tanner that Scotland Yard receives no queries about the crop of present-day dicks of radio, television and slicks.

The Paperwork Storm

IN Washington this Summer when it's hot—and the year around, when it's not—there's a veritable blizzard raging. It is a blizzard of paper—correspondence, reports, copies in duplicate and triplicate, mimeographed forms.

More than 750,000 full-time government workers are creating and handling at least 25,000,000,000 pieces of paper a year.

Reporting on this to Congress, the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, says that this paperwork storm costs us taxpayers about $4,000,000,000 a year—an estimated $100 a year in taxes to the average American family of four.

The Hoover commission's economy program, if adopted, would cut an estimated $255,000,000 worth of that red tape immediately.

Win, Place, and Show

WHO profits most from the operations of the American corporation? Some figures from the U. S. Department of Commerce provide an answer.

Last year, American corporations paid out $165,800,000,000 in wages and salaries to the people who provided the human energy used in the production of goods and services.

They paid $17,200,000,000 to government in taxes—money that built roads, supported schools, helped maintain the military establishments, and did a thousand and one other jobs.

They had a total profit of $17,800,000,000. Some $8,000,000,000 of this was retained in the business to pay for expansion and other job-creating activities.

The balance went to the stockholders—the people whose savings made the existence of the corporations possible.

So, in dividing up corporate income, the workers come first, the government second, and the owners third.

Thinks Dogs Get Unwarranted Sympathy

Pity the Poor Humans

To the Editor: I would like to tell Miss Ruth Ann (Have Mercy on the Dog, Readers Say, July 6) that she should shift her tender sympathies from dogs to human beings.

She suggests a way "to alleviate the suffering of the poor hound dog tied in the sun," but she seems to have no pity for the human beings who are kept from resting by this animal's howling.

When more people in this world think more of their fellow humans than they do of their pet cats and dogs, the problems of living together will be alleviated considerably. Such is not the case now.

The cat and dog lovers should be made to get down and crawl on their hands and knees so they would easily be recognized. Then, they should be herded together and made to live with the furry creatures they love so much. They soon would be happy to get back in the human race. Or would they?

Give Lake Back to Fish

To the Editor: That old swimming hole at Montgomery county park should be closed up. Just because 15,000 to 30,000 people use it in one day is good enough reason. You can just imagine how polluted it must be.

I would never swim, nor let my children swim, in that dirty water.

Oh, I'm not criticizing the park board. But they would do well to turn the water back to the fish. Maybe the fish would be a lot healthier then, too.

All the unsightly naked figures detract from the beauty of the park. Close the beach and you will get rid of them, too. Then we can really enjoy the park as a picnic and recreation grounds.

'Little Men' Are Pawns

To the Editor: In view of the big controversy the steel wage and steel price increases seem to have created, I read with much interest the two letters in yesterday's (July 6) Readers Say (Blow at Economy and 'A Sin and a Shame'). And I must say I agree with these writers 100 percent.

It is obvious that CIO Chief Walter Reuther is using hard-earned money of the union men for his own personal, political ambitions.

Of course, the union men are only pawns in the big enterprise. The wage-price cycle every year is the means.

Reuther and his gang would like the people to swallow the baloney that they are for the "little men." Well, that's plain nonsense! And I'm sure most people will agree.

'Poor' Road Surfacing

To the Editor: I am in hearty agreement about those freshly-oiled roads. I wonder just how much damage they do to the finish of automobiles—permanent damage, that is.

This, I am sure, is faulty road work. The contractors who do the work must know this. Or it may be just a cheap way of satisfying the taxpayers.

Thousands of dollars must be poured down the drain each year by road surfacing that is poor and lasts only a few months, at the most. Public officials should be made to account for this.

Nixon Argues Theory

That GOP Needs Ike

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, July 11—Vice-President Nixon has begun to attack the argument that the Republican Party cannot win a national election without Dwight David Eisenhower at the top of the ticket.

He is trying to break down the theory that Ike is an "indispensable man," and the Franklin D. Roosevelt of the Republican Party.

Although this may sound like political treason, the strange fact is that Eisenhower himself requested that the V-P undertake this mission.

Having embraced Republicanism, albeit the dynamic progressive brand so perilously near to New Dealism, according to McCarthy-Malone reactionaries, Ike wants the GOP to remain in power after he leaves the White House in 1961.

STRENGTHENING THE GOP: President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon have expounded this idea in private talks to visitors to the White House and to the Vice-Presidential suite on Capitol Hill. Now, Nixon is carrying the same message to small groups of party leaders and workers throughout the country.

In envisaging an Eisenhower-less but victorious organization, Nixon points out that the GOP must rely upon the new generation of young, postwar and post-Roosevelt voters to keep the Party in power at Washington. The V-P—the reflects the President's viewpoint—thinks that they have been converted to the Party as remade and redirected by Eisenhower.

Nixon makes no attempt to minimize the task. He has been brutally frank in listing the difficulties which the GOP faces in maintaining its present position, and in retaining it after Ike retires to Gettysburg as an ordinary citizen. In fact, no vainglorious Democrat has presented the opposition's potentialities for a comeback so forcefully or alarmingly.

In 1954, the California notes, the Democrats recaptured Congress, and won 27 of the 48 gubernatorial seats. In terms of Presidential electoral votes, this meant 347 for the Democrats and only 184 for the Republicans.

DOLEFUL FACTORS: There are other doleful factors, according to Nixon. The Democrats have won a majority of city elections since 1952.

Finally, Democrats outnumber Republicans in national registration, with a ratio of two to one over the GOPers among voters under 30 years of age.

Thus, Nixon concedes that his Party suffers from tremendous handicaps from the long-range viewpoint.

Nixon and Ike, however, insist that the Administration's domestic and foreign policies can overcome that obstacle, provided the Republican Party clings to the "new look" after 1961.

IKE'S POPULARITY: Nixon also contends that Ike's popularity is political as well as personal. Although the Democrats have turned up a voting majority in the last three years, he argues that "The Republican President and the Republican Party are favored by a majority at the present time."

Nixon believes that the GOP's program, which he expects to be carried on after Ike leaves Washington, will appeal to youth, labor, farmers, businessmen and to middle-of-the-roads generally. He and the President feel that most Americans, despite periodical wavering under pressure of circumstances, fall into a conservative category.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CARL S., aged 63, is very hard of hearing.

"He should be wearing a hearing aid," his married daughter said, "but he says he's tried them and they make too much noise in his ears."

"But he is ruining the voices of my children, as well as of my husband and myself."

"For Dad always likes to be included in the conversation. But we must then shout at the top of our lungs to make him hear."

"And this constant screaming is becoming a habit with us, so the children tend to shout at each other."

"And I fear I am doing the same thing. So I'd like to get Dad a hearing aid for his birthday, partly to protect the voices of the rest of the family. What kind should I purchase?"

ONE OF the best gifts you can give to elderly folks include the aids to health and digestion, such as new dentures, hearing aids and new eye glasses.

Millions of people past 60 need these badly. And often they can afford them easily.

But it is typical of older folks that they may be very generous with their grandchildren, yet be miserly about buying themselves much needed conveniences.

So your grown children might profitably surprise your elderly relatives by taking them to a dentist for a new, properly fitting set of false teeth.

Or escort them down town and buy them an up-to-date set of eye glasses, for their present pair may be so far out of date that it fogs their vision until they can only half enjoy life. They may no longer be able to read the fine print in newspapers or thread a needle.

THOUSANDS OF other folks, like Carl today, should be wearing a hearing aid.

You folks past middle age should also have more consideration for your children and grandchildren!

"My daughter shuns me! She doesn't want me downstairs when she has a bridge party," Carl later informed me.

"That's largely your fault," I bluntly replied, "for you make everybody shout at the top of his lungs to make you hear. And that gets boring to guests."

"So why don't you look ahead and stop making it so unpleasant for your relatives and their friends."

"Get a hearing aid. Then wear it steadily. Don't try to economize by turning off the batteries when nobody is around."

"Leave the batteries on all the time, for the sounds of traffic or the chirping of birds, all stimulate your ears and keep your hearing more keen."

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Ah, That Vacation! . . .

Thoughts at Random . . .

★ THAT BIG WEEK—Belated thoughts stored up from a vacation: How much money would you have if you were given one-day's "take" at the toll gates at a single spot on one of New York's heavily-traveled parkways? . . . How does the guy who operates a roadside stand no bigger than grandmother's pantry make a living by serving foul-tasting coffee in greasy cups? . . . The woman who runs a sporting goods shop in the heart of Maine's fishing country typified the independence of New Englanders. Her business is a five-month-a-year proposition at best and her shop's always crowded in mid-Summer. Yet, each weekday between noon and 1 p. m. she closes up while out to lunch rather than hire someone to take over for that hour . . . All year long you're looking forward to that week when you can lie in bed just as long as you wish. Then, when the big week arrives, you're up at the crack of dawn so you can make the most of each hour—yes, each minute.

FIRST FEW DAYS of the vacation you're trying so hard to relax that your nerves are constantly on edge. . . . You tuck the wristwatch away, vowing never to wonder about the time. The second day you spend an hour hunting the watch, knowing full well you were only dreaming . . . Out on the lake, you pass another boat and look wonderingly at the fishermen in it: How many did they catch? Then you suddenly realize they're looking at you the same way . . . God's country, you say to yourself—until the little gnats-sized insects fly right through your window screen at night and proceed to feast on your epidermis. . . . As each day passes, you look in the mirror in hopes of finding the wrinkles disappearing. Instead, the sunburn has accentuated the wrinkles. And, alas, the sun is burning off what's left of your hair.

★ A VACATION is a time to relax, to expend less energy in whatever you do. But the first day out fishing, you waste no time, knock yourself out and you're dog-tired at the end of the day—and Back home on the job, you've usually got something to show for the day's efforts. . . . You listen avidly every time you hear a New Englander talk, always fascinated by the drawl accent. And you wonder if the inflections in your speech are as strange to them. . . . You watch a happy

Palm Boy Scouts Leave for Camp On Delaware River

HEREFORD-PALM — Miss Jean L. Schultz, Hereford, Pa., Cor., Phone Pottstown 6734, Eden Remington, del. Phone Sassamansville 4-4838.

Boy Scout Troop 1 of Palm the past week decided to spend their week long camping trip at a site along the Delaware river. In past years they camped at Delmont, but this year the troop committee thought a change might be good. They will camp at a spot midway between Upper Black Edy and Kintnersville.

They left yesterday from the scout hall and they'll return next Sunday. A full scouting program is in the plans and they are certain that expenses will not exceed the $16 cost of the usual Delmont trip.

The troop committee arranged for medical examinations of the boys before they left. The usual "Delmont" safety regulations will be used in the camp. Charles J. Cook is the Boy Scout leader and he will spend the full week with the scouts.

The Senior Girl Scouts of Palm enjoyed a recent weekend at Camp Rockwood (about six miles from East Greenville). The troop left on Friday and remained at camp until Sunday evening. Scout members were as follows: Magdalena Treichler, Diane Moyer, Marie Clemmer, Norma Fetterman, Shirley Ulrich, and Beverly Fox. Some of the activities were as follows: one mile hike at midnight, swimming party in the evening, and a hot dog roast.

Hit-Run Case Proves To Be Scorned Woman

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 10 (AP)—Police learned the power of a woman scorned, but they won't tell her name. Her boy friend won't prosecute.

Someone reported a hit-and-run accident. A young woman was lying in the street. Questioning disclosed it wasn't a hit-run case, exactly.

She followed her boy friend, who drove another woman home in his convertible. While he was saying good night to the other woman, No. 1 picked up rocks and smashed the lights, windows and instrument panel of his car. As he returned, she grabbed the convertible top and began ripping away. He drove off while she was still ripping. She was knocked down.

Vacationing

With
Mercury Readers

BY THE VACATION EDITOR

If you crave to be alone with your bride (or bridegroom), better not go to Niagara Falls on your honeymoon.

Take it from that good friend of cupid, the Vacation Editor. You'll probably see half the folks you know from back home if you do there.

Everybody wants to see the falls, it appears, before they fall all the way down—permanently.

Or so the number of cards sent back by vacationing Pottstonians indicates.

"TELL ALL our friends we are having a wonderful time," wrote

Niagara Falls, N. Y.

one party of area travelers. "The falls are beautiful."

The card was signed by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Overdorf, Birdsboro RD 2, and Mrs. Vernon Sheeler, Elverson RD 1.

Their card showed a view of the falls, and it looks as scenic as ever in the picture. The engineers who've been propping it up the past few years have done their work well.

Niagara river, falls and Goat Island, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cowler (and twins, it says) visited the falls on their way home from Canada.

"WE SPENT a whole week in Ontario," they wrote. Their card showed the falls from the American side.

"Having a nice time touring Canada and New York," wrote Mr.

American and Horseshoe Falls, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

and Mrs. Barney Care, Douglassville. Their card showed the American falls and Canada's Horseshoe falls in the distance.

Another kind of waterfall held the attention of other vacationers from this area.

This one is near Natural Bridge, Va. It's called Lace Water falls.

Lace Water falls, Natural Bridge, Va.

and is a series of swift waterfalls one above the other.

IT WAS pictured on the card sent by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richards, Harry, Kathy and Valerie Richards, and Mr. and Mrs. David Richards, of 151 High street.

"Also visited Luray caverns and Skyline drive," they wrote. "Cool sleeping here at Natural Bridge."

From calmer waterways came a message from Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blessinger Jr.,

Stream near Philipsburg.

Boyetown RD 1. Their card showed a beautiful stream near Philipsburg. "Enjoyed our stay here," they wrote.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hobert and son, Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Grill and son, Richard; Mrs. Sallie Miller, Lester Miller and Lillian Atwhiler, all of Bechtelsville, are enjoying a week in Sullivan county.

"WE ARE all having a nice time up here," they wrote. Their card sent in by Jock Rutter and Evelyn Rogers, of 11 Second avenue, Royersford.

"Touring Delaware, Virginia, the Carolinas and Tennessee," they wrote, "and having a wonderful time."

Sailboats at anchor in a yacht club harbor stood out on the card sent by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Diener, Sailboats at anchor, Beach Haven, N. J.

Yost avenue, Spring City, and Mr. and Mrs. Enos Krause and Reba Krause of Collegeville.

"HAVING a fine time," they wrote from Beach Haven, N. J. "The weather is just perfect and the water is cold—but wet."

Jacob Grebe, 306 Union street, Royersford, wrote from Oscoda,

Five Channels dam, Oscoda, Mich.

Mich., that he is visiting friends there. His card showed the Five Channels dam near that town.

From Flint, Mich. comes a card from Mr. and Mrs. Lewis P. Crater Jr. and son Randy.

Flint, Mich.

Hettrick, Joe West and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hettrick, all of Parkerford.

"Having a swell time," they wrote. "The weather is humid, though. Visiting sister, Mrs. Donald Shaar, of Grand Blanc, Mich."

THEIR CARD showed the skyline of Flint, with its skyscrapers and warehouses overlooking the lake.

The "clam box," a Westport, Conn. eating place, was pictured on the card sent by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pavlick, and sons Anthony and Joe Jr.

"We've been touring the New England states," they wrote,

"and having a lovely vacation."

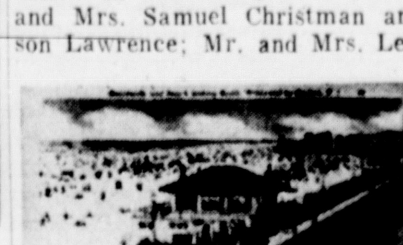

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Johnson and son, Bruce, Gilbertsville, are getting their share of Summer sun

Beach hotel, Brigantine, N. J.

"and sunbun" at Brigantine, N.J. and "enjoying every minute of it," they wrote. Their card showed a hotel on the beach.

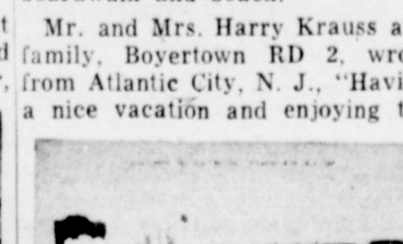

"WE ARE enjoying a week's vacation in Wildwood," wrote Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Christman and son Lawrence; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Christman and daughter Sharon; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Christman. Their card showed the boardwalk and beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Krauss and family, Boyertown RD 2, wrote from Atlantic City, N. J. "Having a nice vacation and enjoying the Dick Trythall, Pottstown RD 2, wrote from the same resort, "The water is nice this weekend. Sure

MR. AND MRS. JOHN THEODORE KISH

Bernice Browne, John Kish Wed in St. John's Church

The marriage of Bernice Ann Browne and John Theodore Kish took place Saturday at a mass in St. John's Catholic church of the Greek, rite performed there by the Rev. Andrew Parvenski, cousin of the bridegroom.

Miss Browne is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Browne, 469 Farmington avenue. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Kish, 914 North Evans street.

St. John Greek Catholic choir presented several selections prior to the ceremony for more than 200 persons attending.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was crowned in embroidered eyelet organza over tissue tulle featuring a sculptured portrait neckline. Buttons descended the back of the bodice.

Her full skirt, adorned with ruffles was worn over a series of petticoats.

With her gown she wore a pearl necklace and crystal rosaries both gifts of the bridegroom. A fingertip veil fell from her pearl trimmed crown.

The bride's bouquet was of lillium album with baby ribbon, ruffles of Chantilly lace and white velvet-leaves. Lilies of the valley centered her flowers.

Rita Browne, sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of pale blue with floral designs on embroidered organza over a hoop underskirt of ruffles. Her gown featured a portrait collar and a bow at the waist in back.

She carried a colonial satin collar of blue petrie fleurs with blue net and matching baby ribbon. Bridesmaids were Joan Frock, Susan Kish, Rita Bechtel and Marilyn Gerhart. They were attired in pink gowns styled as that of the honor attendant.

James Koval attended his cousin as best man. Ushers were Joseph Browne and Paul Browne, brothers of the bride; John Dunmire and George Hassar.

Honor guard for the couple was formed by John Adams, California; Clyde Barbeau, California; Pat Coggins, Delaware, and Joe Gillen, Delaware.

A reception for members of the families and friends took place in the Doehler Die Caster's club.

Guests were present from the local areas and from: New Jersey, Delaware, New York, California, Reading and Philadelphia.

Mother of the bride received in a pale blue dress of Chantilly lace with a corsage of pink rubrum lilies, matching net and pink lilies of the valley.

The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of pink Chantilly lace with matching accessories and a corsage identical to that of the bride's mother.

Keep Summer Clothes Lovely Longer
Summer clothing is particularly subject to even more rapid deterioration than winter or other season garments. It's easy to figure out why.
First, it gets more and harder "casual" wear. At the beach, on outings, picnics, and trips—men, women and children are more relaxed and informal. While having fun, they give the clothes they wear more punishment.
Let us give you a suggestion which will save you many extra wearings:
1. Clean summer wear regularly and as soon after staining or soiling as possible. This applies both to washing and cleaning.
2. Have those garments which lend themselves to it, sized with a good water repellent. You'll be surprised how feather weight sizing is. And how it prevents absorption of spots, stains—practically magical! On top of that, you'll look spic and span longer. A sized garment will not absorb perspiration as rapidly and in addition, tends to resist wrinkling.
3. Ask us about sizing your garments when you

'Ford Masons Lay Date Stone

The date stone of the new lodge home of Royersford Lodge 585 Free and Accepted Masons was laid with a simple and formal ceremony at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the presence of 75 or more members of the lodge.

Located at Seventh avenue and Church street, ground was broken some weeks ago and building operations were begun.

The program was in charge of Charles C. Grater, worshipful master of the lodge. The stone was put in place by Harry U. Katz, Warren I. Duckworth and Robert R. Thompson, three members of the building committee. Invocation was offered by the Rev. Harold C. Kellogg, vicar of Epiphany Episcopal church. A short address was given by Paul S. Krasley, vice-president of the building association of the lodge.

The building, 40 by 100 feet, will consist of a basement containing a banquet hall and lodge room on the first floor. Plans call for the building to be completed late this year.

It will be the first Masonic lodge in Royersford. Since the inception of the lodge it has been meeting in the former Lathaw's hall, now known as the Town hall, Fourth avenue and Main street.

Burgess George W. Lee has received request from authorities of the New York state capital to put up for sale at a big auction sale in that city, sponsored by St. Margaret's Episcopal church. The project was arranged to have many communities send in items representing their respective city.

The Burgess said he would cooperate and send something, but he doesn't know yet whether it will be the "key to the city" made by a local manufacturing concern or one or more other products made in Royersford. Anyhow, Royersford will get some free advertising out of it. Whoever buys it will know Royersford, its Burgess and where the product came from.

Nationals Favored in 'Star Tilt Tomorrow

ROBIN ROBERTS

MILWAUKEE, July 10 (AP) — Baseball-mad Milwaukee where the turnstiles always sing gets its first All-Star game Tuesday when the Braves and their National League playmates are favored to close the gap on the "foreigners" from the American League.

Although the American holds a 13-8 edge in this series, dreamed up by the late Arch Ward in 1933, it finds itself in the strange role of a 13 to 10 underdog against the National's powerhouse.

The pitchers and batting orders won't be announced until tomorrow when the managers and players arrive on the scene after today's busv program. Although both starting lineups, selected by the vote of 6,562,064 fans, will be loaded with left-handed batters, the starting pitchers are expected to be righthanders.

Manager Al Lopez of the American probably will call on Early Wynn, the ace of his Cleveland staff who generally is regarded as the best pitcher in the league this season.

Either Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies or Don New-combe, Brooklyn's sensational slugger-pitcher, is due to get the call from manager Leo Durocher whose World Champion New York Giants have only two men on the 25-man squad.

NO MATTER who pitches, the County Stadium will be jammed with about 45,000 fans, eager to get a peak at the strangers from the "other" league. The gate admissions probably will amount to about $175,000. Another $110,000 from the radio-television rights and the receipts go into the major leagues' central fund which helps support the player pension fund.

To permit officials to attend the funeral of Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune at Chicago Tuesday morning, game time has been set back a half hour to 2 p. m., Central Standard time (4 o'clock, Eastern Standard time). The game will be carried on network radio (Mutual) and television (NBC).

For years the National blushed a deep red at mention of the All-Star game while the American piled it on. However, the National had won four straight until the '54 game at Cleveland where injured Al Rosen hit two home runs and drove in five runs for an 11-9

American victory.

The home run knockout punch, the traditional boast of the American, now rides with the National whose All-Stars have hit nearly 300 more than the American stars.

With sluggers like Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski, Brooklyn's Duke Snider, Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews, Chicago's Ernie Banks and Philadelphia's Del Ennis in the starting lineup, most of the nine American pitchers may see action. For "reserve" strength, Durocher also has St. Louis's Stan Musial and Giants' Willie Mays, available after the starters picked by the fans have played their three innings as required by the rules. He probably will have an outfield of Musial, Mays and Snider in the last stages of the game.

THAT LEFTY array of Snider-Kluszewski-Mathews might tempt Lopez to go for a lefty like Chicago's Billy Pierce, but he is expected to stick with his own man. Herb Score, the rookie left-hander he picked from his Cleveland club, worked today.

If Wynn starts, Lopez can follow with New York's Bob Turley, Boston's Frank Sullivan or Chicago's Dick Donovan or Pierce.

DON NEWCOMBE

Ricketts Wins 3d Straight Decision

Dick Ricketts won his third straight Eastern league mound decision Saturday, downing Albany, 5-2, on four hits at Allentown for his fourth-place Cardinals team.

The former Pottstown High and Amole Legion hurler-first baseman also singled and scored a run in three official tries.

In keeping his EL bill record unblemished, the long right-hander gave up three singles. The other Albany hit was a double that drove in both the losers' tallies in the seventh inning.

Ricketts fanned six and walked four over the nine-inning route.

Sleight Notches 2d Feature at Hatfield Track

George Sleight grabbed the lead early and went on to record his second 20-lap feature victory of the season last night at Hatfield speedway.

Sleight, who hails from Easton, took over the lead on the first lap of a restart on the third lap.

He started ninth and had worked into fourth spot after the first two turns around the half-mile oval.

George Gregory and Red Leshner finished behind the Lehigh county flyer in the winup.

SLEIGHT WARMED for his feature win by coping the first heat. Gregory won the third heat, Charlie Kelly, the second and Bob Pershings, the consolation.

The restart in the feature was necessitated when Gus Sandberg and Curt Sherman locked wheels on the third lap and Sandberg's car rolled over three times.

Don Allison was forced out of competition on the first heat when his car hit the fence.

Vince DeBeauvoir was the feature victor in the non-Ford Bell club program conducted in conjunction with the All-Stars club races.

MUTTER VICTOR IN FEATURE; 3 MARKS FALL

Reinert Cracks Records For 12, 15 Laps At Sanatoga

Warren Mutter and Noot Reinert went on a record-breaking rampage Saturday night at Sanatoga speedway, with Mutter narrowly edging his hard-riding All-Stars Racing club colleague to cop the 30-lap feature nod.

Mutter negotiated the 30 laps around the one-fifth of a mile course in 7:42.5 to eclipse the former mark of 7:47.2 set by Norman Kidd.

Reinert smashed the track records for 12 and 15 laps in the third heat and second semi-final, respectively.

His time for the dozen laps was 3:05.7, 1.8 seconds better than the former mark posted by Bill Ellis.

Reinert's time of 3:51.5 for the 15 laps smashed the old record of 3:53.2 set by Monk Kellar.

THE FEATURE victory for Mutter made him the second repeat victor in 13 shows at Sanatoga this season.

So intent were the ASCRA members on speeding about the slick oval that they almost entirely forgot about their weekly quota of fence-busting and fender-bending.

Sam Kellar was forced out of action in the second heat when he hit the fence. In the night's only other mishap, Don Hirsh lost a wheel in the first heat.

Rocky Ewing won the first semi-final and Dave Birdsey and Monk Kellar were the other heat victors. The consolation winner was Red Leshner.

Behind Mutter and Reinert in the feature were Don Allison, Monk Kellar, Al Allison, Curt Sherman and Jim Ryan, in that order.

The crowd of 3500 (2195 paid) was one of the best of the season.

SUMMARY First heat: 1. Dave Birdsey; 2. Harry Maxwell; 3. Curt Sherman. Time: 3:12.0 minutes. Second heat: 1. Monk Kellar; 2. Al Allison; 3. Warren Mutter. Time: 3:10.2 minutes. Third heat: 1. Noot Reinert; 2. Tom Sheetz; 3. Jack Ruby. Time: 3:05.8 minutes (new record for 12 laps, old record 3:07.5 by Bill Ellis).

First semi-final: 1. Rocky Ewing; 2. A. Allison; 3. Curt Sherman. Time: 3:06.9 minutes. Second semi-final: 1. Reinert; 2. Sheetz; 3. Ruby. Time: 3:51.5 minutes (new record for 15 laps, old record 3:53.2 by Monk Kellar).

Consolation: 1. Red Leshner; 2. Don Allison; 3. Harry Moore. Time: 3:09.6 minutes. Feature: 1. Mutter; 2. Reinert; 3. D. Allison; 4. M. Kellar; 5. A. Allison; 6. Sherman; 7. Jim Ryan; 8. Dick Rodenberger; 9. George Gregory; 10. R. Ewing. Time: 7:42.5 minutes (new record for 30 laps, old record 7:47.2 by Norman Kidd).

Boyertown Legion Deadlocks Keys For Lead in Berks County League

Boyertown's irrepressible Legion Juniors deadlocked the Reading Key Jrs. for the lead in the Berks circuit yesterday by pouncing out a 15-9 victory over foundering Pulaski at Boyertown.

The Boys tripped West Lawn, 4-3, in 11 innings, Saturday on their home lot.

The weekend sweep gave Boyertown an 8-2 mark for the year, putting them even with the defending champ Keys.

Duke Snyder was called on for relief mound work in both victories. He hurled one-hit ball over the final five rounds Saturday to pick up the decision.

Yesterday he no-hit the visitors in the last one and two-thirds rounds to save Gerry Grim's second win of the season against no defeats.

BOYERTOWN pounded out 15 hits in yesterday's victory, with Ron Domin and Bob Nuss garnering three of them each.

Carl Johnson bagged a four-master to left to count two runs and get the winners to a fast start in the second frame. Nuss' two-run triple sparked a three-run rally in the third.

Charles, DeMarco featured in week's top boxing shows

By The Associated Press Ezzard Charles and Paddy DeMarco, a pair of former champions trying to resuscitate boxing's heights, are featured in the top bouts of the light Summer program this week.

Currently ranked as the sixth contender among the heavyweights, Charles, of Cincinnati, meets lanky Paul Andrews of Buffalo, N.Y., in a television 10-rounder at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night (ABC-TV, radio, 10 p. m. EDT).

DeMarco, the former lightweight king, faces Ralph Dupas, the 19-year-old top contender, in New Orleans tonight in a return 10.

Although he is the No. 6 light heavyweight contender, Andrews, a 6-3 former paratrooper is campaigning among the heavies. A good puncher but easy to hit, Andrews was knocked out in the sixth round by Harold Johnson on Feb. 11. He rallied from that defeat to whip Jimmy Slade on May 10.

Charles, too, was stopped recently. The 34-year old veteran was halted in the ninth by jolting Johnny Holman in April but avenged that defeat by outpointing Holman a month ago.

Dupas also is out to even an old score. DeMarco edged him 18 months ago and went on to win the lightweight crown from Jimmy Carter. The bustling Brooklyn fighter lost it right back to Carter.

Now the speedy Louisiana lad is hoping to wipe out that defeat and work up to a title shot himself. He has been beaten six times and avenged five of the losses. DeMarco is the current exception.

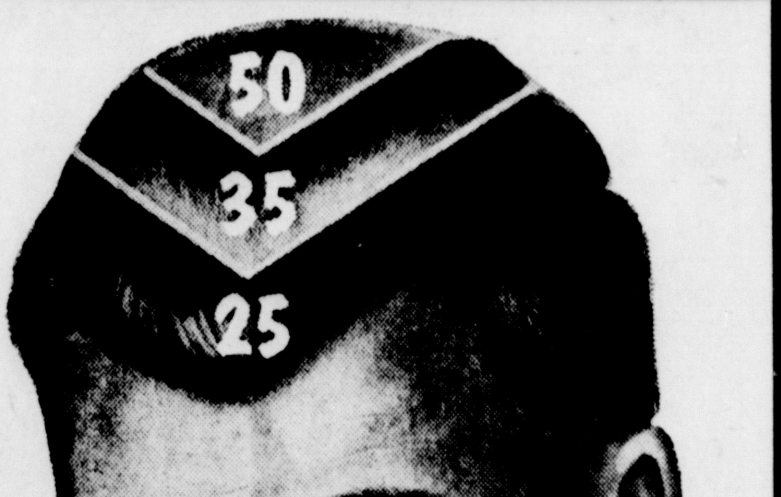

In the only other network TV bout of the week (Dumont-TV, 10 p. m., EDT), two New York light heavyweights, Tony Anthony and Tony Johnson, collide in a 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas arena tonight. This should be a free swinging affair.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MR. GORDON was dreaming of a play with two characters and one set that would run for eight thousand consecutive performances. His plane was making a routine flight from New York to Chicago. Suddenly he looked up to see a parachutist drift past his window. "Care to join me?" hollered the parachutist.

"Think I'm nuts?" responded Mr. Gordon. "I'm staying right here."

"Have it your way," conceded the parachutist. "I'm your pilot."

Leo Guild's tip on how to dance the hula: "There really is nothing to it. First you put a crop of grass on one hip. Then you put a crop of grass on the other. Then you rotate the crops."

Herman Levin has come up with a novel play script. There are six characters when the curtain goes up, but only five when it falls. The heroine loses hers in act two.

PARAKEET—

hungry, because Chippie was longingly looking at the grain being fed to the chickens. When the Scherfels tried to corner him, he flew away.

Mrs. Scherfel looked at the lost and found column and called Mrs. Nester telling her that Chippie was seen at their home. The owner promptly picked up her cage and arrived at the scene.

By the time she got to the home, however, Chippie decided his stomach was more important than his fear and he returned to the tree, where the Scherfel family began feeding him chicken grain.

RELUCTANT to give up his life of freedom, Chippie avoided being caught, even when Mrs. Nester appeared on the scene.

However, the pet must have been a little homesick, for when Mrs. Nester brought out a little ladder, which was in the cage, Chippie promptly flew in.

After swinging in the silver bell, placed in the cage, he hopped over to the feeding dish and began eating happily.

Mrs. Nester definitely identified her bird, because of a cracked beak, Chippie acquired in his early youth.

HEAT WAVE—

assistant manager, estimated. "On Saturday we had 3000," he added. "Business both days was 30 percent better than usual, I'd say."

Ray Hartenstein, manager of Sunnyside park, reported a weekend swimming and picnicking crowd of several thousand at his oasis, and hundred of others visited Pruss Hill dam on both days.

Proof that Pottstonians who had to stay in town during the heat wave drank more water and took more showers was offered by increased operations of Pottstown's water system.

The afternoon shower contributed to three traffic accidents. John A. Clouser, 29, of 17 South Evans street, lost control of his heavy, 1949 sedan in the light rain along Germantown pike, one mile east of Collegeville.

CLOUSER, proceeding east on Germantown pike, ran his car into a ditch. Jeffersonville State troopers William Karvois and Clem Seroski estimated damage at $800. Clouser was uninjured.

Joseph Cantello, Norristown, ran his sedan into a ditch at Route 73 and Whitehall road at 5:19 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Damage was estimated at $125 by Jeffersonville Trooper Frank T. Christof.

Beatrice Monteiro, 29, of Norristown, ran her car into a ditch at the intersection of Route 63 and Forty Foot road, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Trooper Christof reported she was turning north onto Forty Foot road when she lost control. Damage was set at $150.

HONOR AIRLIFT HEROES

BERLIN, July 10 (AP)—Western and German officials today honored 51 American and British fliers who lost their lives in the airlift which fed West Berlin during the Soviet blockade of 1948-49.

NEARS 45-YEAR MARK— Sebastian Nuzzo, an employee of Philadelphia Electric's Gas Transmission and Distribution division, will complete 45 years of service with the company on July 15. Nuzzo resides at 1045 South street.

19,545 NEW CITIZENS
OTTAWA, July 10 (AP)—Citizenship certificates were granted to 19,545 new Canadians last year, 40 percent more than in 1953. The bureau of statistics reported today. Among the newcomers are 570 former U.S. citizens.

Davy Crockett Boom Spurs Raccoon Sales

ST. LOUIS, July 10 (AP)—The man of the year among St. Louis dealers in raw fur is Davy Crockett, who died at the Alamo 120 years ago.

The demand for Davy Crockett hats and other frontier garb created by the current craze over the King of the Wild Frontier has enabled fur dealers to sell skins that had been taking up warehouse space for years.

"We have sold a lot of lemons that had been around for a long time—anything that had a tail on it, said one dealer. "And raccoon tails, which until recently had been almost worthless, went for $4 to $5 a pound."

Children Don't Change But Guidance Does

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 10 (AP)—Guidance has changed more in 40 years than children, says Francis S. Warner.

"In fact, kids basically have hardly changed at all," Warner says, and he should know—retiring after 40 years as school janitor and custodian.

The most valuable thing teachers can do in guidance, Warner says, is to manage the two or three mean kids found in every group "so the other children will influence the mean ones instead of vice versa."

City Needs Eggheads, Artist Tells Lions Club

NORFOLK, Va., July 10 (AP)—Kenneth Harris, local artist, says Norfolk needs dreamers and eggheads (intellectuals). He described Thomas Jefferson as a "real egghead."

Harris told the Lions club that civilization as we know it is based on the reveries of dreamers but that in the last hundred years "We have decided it is not safe to place our trust in a band of dreamers."

He spoke of anti-intellectualism as a basic defect in American society. FAVOR VACCINE DELAY
HARRISBURG, July 10 (AP)—A majority of county health directors in Pennsylvania are opposed to resuming the antipolio vaccination program before the end of the summer school vacation.

Gigantic Alert Set For Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—The White house has disclosed tentative plans for a gigantic "Operation Alert" in 1956 in which all three branches of government will flee Washington while the armed forces stage war games.

All federal agencies are being urged to establish permanent relocation sites, continuously staffed on a skeleton basis, to which their Washington workers could report in an evacuation.

CHURCHILL HOSTS GOVERNOR
CHARTWELL, England, July 10 (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill was host at luncheon today for Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Mrs. Harriman at his country home in Kent.

6000 is the number for newstips.

Street-Razing Boosts Church Attendance

WORCESTER, Mass., July 10 (AP)—Perhaps one way to increase church attendance is to tear up the streets around the church, says the Rev. Oscar B. Anderson, of Worcester's Belmont St. Baptist church.

Railway underpass construction began beside his church, causing the street to be closed and dug up, making the area a dusty mess and parking miserable, he says. But attendance went up—10 to 15 percent in church school and mid-week service.
